

Belfast Maritime Weekender

4-5 September 2021

Welcome to the Belfast Maritime Weekender, bringing the city's maritime and industrial history to life with pockets of exciting seafaring activities stretching across the entire Maritime Mile from Sailortown to Titanic Quarter.

Enjoy daytime and evening activities including live music and dance, nautical themed street performers, playful art and heritage installations, dance picnics for children, walking tours, a treasure trail, a pop-up street food market, lights and illuminations, and much more.

Designed with space and safety in mind, the programme of activities will stretch across the entire Maritime Mile, with something for everyone to enjoy.

Here's a flavour of what to expect!

On the water

Enjoy a spectacle of 'on the water' boat displays and demos with some visiting vessels arriving into port to join us for the weekend. Come on down to catch a glimpse of them.

Quayside family fun

An array of nautical themed street performers and shows will bring the Maritime Mile to life.

Live music and dance

Enjoy an array of local music talent along the quaysides as well as pop up dance performances daily.

Ticketed events and tours

This year's programme includes a range of bookable activities, from guided tours and music events to a parkrun and children's yoga. Small charges may apply.

Street food

Head down to the historic slipways and check out the Pop-up Maritime Street Food Market, with food trucks, stalls, music and plenty of picnic tables.

Lighting and illuminations

Discover the Maritime Mile by night with special light and illumination displays.

Exhibitions

Check out the National Geographic Society's touring exhibition 'Planet or Plastic?' brought to you by SSE Airtricity in partnership with not-for-profit Sick of Plastic.

Maritime mile treasure trail

Fold out our Maritime Map and have a go at answering the questions. Submit your answers online at maritime-mile.com/treasure for the chance to win some amazing prizes! Tread the Boards will bring the trail to life at 10 stops along the way.
